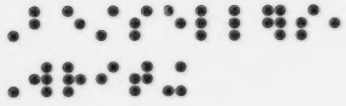
LC 19.9:

Children are "the best readers of genuine literature.... They still like clarity, logic, and even such obsolete stuff as punctuation."

Isaac Bashevis Singer



Cover: Anyone who has struggled to compose a paragraph knows writing isn't easy—whether that paragraph is part of a memo, a business or personal letter, or a piece of fiction. To help writers, the national braille collection has a number of how-to books, as well as behind-the-scenes books about print and broadcast journalism, and directories on where to publish prose, poetry, or fiction. In addition, from those people who make their fortunes writing, the collection offers a wealth of bestsellers.

Braille Book Review

January-February 1986
Volume 55, Number 1

Braille Book Review is published bimonthly and distributed free to blind and physically handicapped individuals who participate in the Library of Congress free reading program. It lists braille magazines and books available through a network of cooperating libraries. The braille edition also lists recorded books, giving abbreviated annotations. News about library services is featured in both editions.

The annotated list in this issue is limited to titles recently added to the national collection, which contains thousands of fiction and nonfiction titles, including classics, biographies, Gothics, mysteries, and how-to and self-help guides. To learn more about the wide range of books in the national collection, readers may order catalogs and subject bibliographies from cooperating libraries. Librarians can check other resources for titles and answer requests for special materials.

Subscription information for Braille Book Review is located on the inside back cover. Correspondence regarding editorial matters should be sent to: Publications and Media Section, National Library Service for the Blind and Physically Handicapped, Library of Congress, Washington, DC 20542

In Brief

New for 1986

For the first time in 1986 readers will be able to pre-order braille sports schedules for the seasons of major league teams. Order forms will be mailed to patrons in February for these schedules. Also on the same order forms will be new cumulative catalogs of recorded books which are being produced for the first time on flexible disc. The annual publications order form will contain listings for Cassette Books 1985, For Younger Readers 1984–1985 (which lists both braille and recorded books), and Talking Books Adult 1984–1985.

To order the flexible-disc catalogs, sports schedules, and other catalogs and bibliographies in print and braille, readers should fill out the order forms they will receive in the mail in February. All materials ordered will be mailed directly to readers as they are produced.

Free Matter Mailing

As a service to people eligible for free matter mailing, the U.S. Postal Service, Office of Consumer Affairs, has prepared the following guide. Listed here are the answers to the most commonly asked questions from consumers about free matter for blind and physically handicapped persons. The information is based on section 135 of the Domestic Mail Manual and United States Code, title 39, sections 3403–3405. (Text supplied by the U.S. Postal Service.)

Question: Who may qualify to mail items free of postage?

Answer: Persons who are blind or who cannot use or read conventionally printed material due to a physical handicap.

Question: What must a person do to be eligible to mail items free of postage?

Answer: First, the person must have a competent authority certify that the individual is unable to read conventional reading material. A competent authority includes a licensed medical doctor, ophthalmologist, optometrist, registered nurse, professional staff member of a hospital or other institution or agency.

The statement is to be submitted to the post office where postage-free mailings will be made or received by the blind or handicapped person. The person is then considered eligible to use the free-mailing privilege.

Handicaps besides visual handicaps which can prevent normal reading include disabling paralysis, muscle or nerve deterioration affecting coordination and control, and confinement in iron lungs or other mechanical devices. Among the causes of such conditions are cerebral palsy, multiple sclerosis, muscular dystrophy, arthritis, infantile paralysis, myasthenia gravis, and diplegia.

Question: What material may be mailed free of postage?

Answer: Under the conditions specified below, the following material is eligible:

1. Books, magazines, musical scores, and other reading matter, or pages or parts thereof, in raised characters (braille), large print, or recorded form;

2. Paper, records, tapes, and other matter for the production of reading matter, musical scores, or sound reproductions for eligible persons;

3. Equipment and parts for equipment used for writing by eligible persons or for educational purposes;

4. Sound play-back equipment specially designed or adapted for the use of visually handicapped persons;

5. Equipment or parts for equipment specifically designed or adapted for use by visually handicapped persons, such as braille watches, white canes, and similar equipment.

Question: Are there any restrictions on this material?

Answer: The material may not contain any advertising.

Musical or other sound recordings not specifically designed for use by visually handicapped persons are not eligible for free mailing.

The mail is subject to inspection by the Postal Service.

Question: Who can mail eligible material postage-free and to whom?

Answer: Individuals, libraries, and other noncommercial organizations serving eligible persons may mail the above material to eligible persons and to organizations serving eligible persons free of postage. Eligible persons may return materials to the lenders free of postage. Eligible persons may exchange the above material among themselves free of postage. Libraries and other noncommercial organizations may exchange such material among themselves free of postage.

Commercial producers of the above material may mail such material free of postage to an eligible person on the additional condition that whatever charge, fee, or rental required does not exceed the cost of the material.

Question: Can letters be mailed free of postage?

Answer: Letters in raised characters (braille), in 14-point or larger sightsaving type, or in the form of sound recordings may be mailed from an eligible person free of postage. Handwritten or typewritten letters, however, are subject to the applicable rate of postage when mailed to or from an eligible person. Also subject to applicable postage are bills paid by mail by eligible persons and letters in any form when mailed to eligible persons from non-eligible persons.

Question: Why must letters be mailed unsealed?

Answer: To allow inspection by postal authorities to ensure that the materials qualify for mailing free of postage.

Question: Are special services available for free mail for eligible persons?

Answer: A mailer may insure a postage-free parcel by paying only the required insurance fee.

All matter sent Express Mail, special delivery, certified, or registered mail requires payment of postage plus the full fees charged for the special postal services.

Question: What must be marked on mail to show that it is qualified for mailing free of postage?

Answer: In the upper right corner of the address side of the envelope or parcel where postage would normally be placed, the words "FREE MATTER FOR THE BLIND OR HANDICAPPED" must be placed. The words may be printed, rubber stamped, or handwritten.

Question: Are special arrangements possible for delivery or pickup of free mail for eligible persons?

Answer: Eligibility for free mailing for the blind or handicapped does not encompass such special arrangements. Post offices may be able to make special arrangements depending on the local circumstances. Customers should contact their local post office to request special arrangements. Such requests will be handled in accordance with the postal regulations concerning requests for special arrangements by handicapped persons.

Question: Is international service for blind and handicapped persons available?

Answer: Yes, the same general rules apply, except that the articles that may be mailed are limited to:

1. Books, periodicals, and other matter (including unsealed letters) impressed in braille or other special type for the use of the blind.
2. Plates for embossing literature for the blind.
3. Discs, tapes, or wires bearing voice recordings, and special paper intended solely for the use of the blind, provided they are sent by or addressed to an officially recognized institute for the blind.

Question: Where might an individual turn if problems occur while using the procedures for free mailing for the blind and handicapped?

Answer: Most problems can be resolved at your local post office. Customers may make inquiries or complaints by telephone, letter, or in person or by using our convenient Consumer Service Cards. These postage-paid cards are available at all post offices. If a problem cannot be resolved satisfactorily at your local post office, you may write to:

There he was introduced to the homemade chocolate chip cookies which would ultimately make his fortune. 1983.

Strangers in Paradise: The Hollywood Emigrés, 1933–1950 BRA 17780
by John Russell Taylor
7 volumes
An account of how refugees from Nazi Germany, flocking to Hollywood during the 1930s and 1940s, changed the character of the film capital and of cultural life in Southern California. Provides anecdotes about actors, directors, writers, and musicians who became more closely identified with the New World than with the Old. Among them are Fritz Lang, Peter Lorre, Billy Wilder, and Otto Preminger. 1983.

Antipolitics: An Essay BRA 17782
by George Konrád
5 volumes
The Hungarian novelist offers a political manifesto in which he blames the Soviet Union and the U.S. in equal measure for the threat of nuclear annihilation that hangs over the world. Both superpowers, he argues, are run by a ruling elite comprised of industrial and military leaders who foster crude national self-interest. He calls for the creation of a European federation of states acting independently of the superpowers. 1984.

The Written Word and Associated Digressions Concerned with the Writer as Craftsman BRA 17795
by Stephen White
5 volumes
The former New York Herald Tribune correspondent and Look editor draws on a long, varied writing career to offer this work on the craft of expository writing. He first considers the writer's tools (words, sentences), then examines the process of writing from outline to revision, emphasizing the need for lucidity. 1984.

Handcopied Braille Fiction

Mary Ann's Angels BRA 16739
by Catherine Cookson
5 volumes

Cover: Whether you dance, lift weights, or simply like to read about sports and exercise, braille books can offer instruction and entertainment. The national collection has a number of books about sports personalities and other important figures who often inspire developing artists and athletes.

Braille Book Review

March-April 1986
Volume 55, Number 2

Braille Book Review is published bimonthly and distributed free to blind and physically handicapped individuals who participate in the Library of Congress free reading program. It lists braille magazines and books available through a network of cooperating libraries. The braille edition also lists recorded books, giving abbreviated annotations. News about library services is featured in both editions.

The annotated list in this issue is limited to titles recently added to the national collection, which contains thousands of fiction and nonfiction titles, including classics, biographies, Gothics, mysteries, and how-to and self-help guides. To learn more about the wide range of books in the national collection, readers may order catalogs and subject bibliographies from cooperating libraries. Librarians can check other resources for titles and answer requests for special materials.

Sports Potpourri

The warm weather of spring is an invitation for many people to get involved in their favorite sports. Athletes and fans can enjoy the sports books in the NLS braille collection. The collection contains books about different sports, biographies, and collected sports articles by such writers as John Updike and George Plimpton.

Peruse the possibilities below, call your braille-lending library for titles, pull up an armchair, and get physical.

The Big Whistle BR 2660 by Bill Chadwick. Tells of Chadwick's run-ins with players, coaches, owners, and fans, and relates humorous anecdotes, inside stories, and opinions gleaned from his forty-year career in hockey. 1974.

The Greatest: My Own Story BR 2847 by Muhammad Ali. One of America's most famous prize-fighters reveals his personal and professional life, including his relationships with lawyers, friends, trainers, and sponsors. Some strong language. 1976.

Queens of the Court BR 2988 by George Sullivan. Profiles of famous tennis players: Margaret Court, Billie Jean King, Chris Evert, Evonne Goolagong, Rosemary Casals, and Virginia Wade. Highlights the personal qualities that led to stardom, critical moments in their careers, individual playing styles, and tournament records of each. For junior and senior high readers. 1974.

Namath, My Son Joe BR 3102 by Rose Namath Szolnoki. A loving mother's recollections about her famous son. She describes his growing up in Beaver Falls, Pennsylvania, his mischievous ways as a small boy, his athletic fame in high school, and his later success in college and professional football. 1975.

Soccer BR 3106 by John Moynihan. This introduction to the game describes its history, basic techniques and tactics, and some famous matches. Although somewhat British in tone, the book serves as a guide to Americans interested in this increasingly popular sport. 1974.

The Yankees: The Four Fabulous Eras of Baseball's Most Famous Team BR 4134 by Dave Anderson. A collection of four essays describing the four great baseball eras of the New York Yankees — the era of Babe Ruth and Lou Gehrig in the 1920s, the Joe DiMaggio years of the 1940s, the Mickey Mantle and Casey Stengel years of the 1950s and early 1960s, and the later era of the money players. Includes lists of records and the all-time roster. 1979.

The October Heroes: Great World Series Games Remembered by the Men Who Played Them BR 4251 by Donald Honig. Great names from many eras recall some of baseball's most memorable moments — tales of Babe Ruth, Honus Wagner, and Grover Cleveland Alexander — among others. 1979.

Sports Classics: American Writers Choose Their Best BR 5698 edited by Howard Siner. Forty sports articles. George Plimpton writes about taking his young daughter to a Harvard-Yale football game, John Updike reports on the last appearance of Ted Williams on the diamond, and James Michener describes the tragedy and triumph of being a Phillies fan. 1983.

Breaking Through BR 5865 by Harry C. Cordellos. The autobiography of a renowned blind athlete. Cordellos describes his transformation from a timid, fumbling youngster with glaucoma to the accomplished and confident athelete he is today. His accomplishments in sports are as diverse as waterskiing, gymnastics, distance running, and diving. 1981.

Updating Magazine Subscription Lists

Producers of magazines in braille are conducting a mail survey to find out whether readers wish to continue receiving subscriptions. If you are a magazine subscriber, you may have received, or soon will receive, a letter asking you to review your subscriptions. A post card is provided which should be returned if you want to cancel a particular subscription. If you want to keep getting the magazine, just throw the post card away. To help NLS save money, please review your subscriptions carefully and cancel the ones you don't really need. When the cards are received, they will be forwarded to appropriate regional libraries.

Social Security: Six Basic Pamphlets

Six basic pamphlets in braille about social security will be available in braille-lending libraries this year. Because of fiscal restrictions, however, quantities placed in libraries will be limited. Fourteen related publications will also be available on a limited basis from the Braille Services Section of the Department of Health and Human Services.

The basic pamphlets available from libraries are:

Your Social Security
If You Become Disabled
SSI for Aged, Disabled, and Blind People
Thinking about Retiring
How Work Affects Your Social Security Checks
Disability Benefits and Work

The Health Care Financing Administration has agreed to distribute braille copies of Your Medicare Handbook to libraries as well.

Pamphlets available from the Braille Services Section, Department of Health and Human Services, Social Security Administration, Baltimore, MD 21235 are:

Your Social Security Number
Direct Deposit of Your Monthly Benefits
History of Social Security
Basic Facts about Medicare and Other Health Insurance
Your Social Security Earnings Record

Your Social Security Rights and Responsibilities: Disability Benefits
Social Security Checks for Students
Your Disability Claim
Your Right to Question the Decision Made on Your Social Security Claim

What You Have to Know about SSI

Braille Baseball Schedules Ready

The American and National baseball league schedules for the April-October season are available in braille from participating libraries. The schedules include the All-Star game to be held at the Astrodome on July 15. Game times and dates are listed for each area. For a free copy call your braille-lending library.

Louis Braille

Braille readers who are planning summer travel abroad might be interested in visiting the French town where Louis Braille, the inventor of the braille alphabet, was born. The town of Coupvray, about twenty-five miles east of Paris, may be reached by bus or rail. It features a marker at Louis Braille's birthplace and a museum in the house where he lived. Included in the museum are personal souvenirs and examples of various applications of his reading and writing system.

Born January 4, 1809, Louis Braille lost his sight when he was three. The inquisitive youngster was in his father's saddlery shop when he ran a sharp tool into his eye. An infection developed which spread to the other eye, and a year after the accident he was completely blind.

Louis's questioning nature continued as he grew up. At the age of ten, he entered the Royal Institute for the Young Blind, where his teachers were surprised by his powers of concentration and his interest in methodical research.

When Braille was a student, an imperfect system of embossed writing developed by Charles Barbier de la Serre was being used. Called "Sonography," the system used a large number of dots to represent sounds. Individual letters were ignored and there was no provision for punctuation or math or music symbols.

In his spare time at school, the young Louis developed his braille system. By the time he was fifteen, he had produced a system of letters with accents and punctuation, math and music symbols, similar to the one used today. Unlike Barbier's system, Louis Braille's consisted of letters which were not too large to be read individually with the fingertip.

When he was twenty, Louis published an explanation of his system. Innovative as it was, the system was not destined to replace the official reading system for the blind (which was Barbier's) until after Braille's death.

In his adult years, Louis Braille taught at the Royal Institute and continued to develop applications for braille. As a young man of twenty-six, he suffered the first symptoms of tuberculosis, the disease that would claim his life at forty-three. Two years after his death, braille became the official reading and writing system for blind people in France — and later for blind people all over the world.

For more information about the inventor of braille, check out Windows for the Blind (BR 3178), The Touch of Light: The Story of Louis Braille (BR 1423), or Louis Braille, 1809–1852 (BR 2070) (juvenile literature) from your braille-lending library.

Newsstand

The following announcements may be of interest to readers. The National Library Service reserves the right to publish announcements selectively, as space permits. Items mentioned, however, are not part of the NLS program, and their listing does not imply endorsement.

Comet Halley Returns, a NASA education publication, is available in braille. It provides a history and description of the basic properties of comets, focusing on Halley's Comet, which has been visible from the earth this spring. The publication also includes classroom activities designed to enhance the reader's knowledge and interest in this once-in-a-lifetime event. Copies of Comet Halley Returns may be obtained free from Joseph Nervi, Coordinator of Educational Programs for the Handicapped, 21000 Brookpark Road, Cleveland, OH 44135.

Mount Rushmore Information. A brochure about Mount Rushmore National Memorial is available in braille for visitors to the site. It contains a history of the carving of Mount Rushmore, a map of the Black Hills National Forest, and a section that enables blind visitors through touch to compare the dimensions of the Mount Rushmore faces to the Statue of Liberty and the Washington Monument. For information write the United States Department of the Interior, National Park Service, Mount Rushmore National Memorial, Keystone, SD 57751.

Braille Dictionary. For $96, braille readers can obtain the Random House Concise Dictionary in braille on Versa-Braille cassettes. The eighty thousand entries are contained on twelve cassettes packaged in one vinyl album, and the work has been indexed and labeled in braille. Send orders to National Association to Promote the Use of Braille, 3618 Dayton Avenue, Louisville, KY 40207.

Books for Adults

The following books were recently produced for the NLS program. Books with the BR code are produced in press braille. Books with the BRA code are thermoform copies of braille books handcopied for NLS by volunteers. To order books with the BR and BRA codes, complete the order form and return it to your braille-lending library.

Because handcopied books are in very limited supply, your requests may have to be placed on a waiting list. Please be prompt to read and return handcopied books within a few weeks for the sake of other readers who are waiting. The average loan period is four weeks. In unusual circumstances, however, readers may keep their volumes longer.

Note: For the information of the reader, a notice may appear immediately following the book description to indicate occurrences of strong language, explicit descriptions of sex, or violence. Lenore Pickel learns that Marah, a Jewish classmate, is the daughter of a Holocaust survivor and that it has had a deep effect on her. Lenore's other high school friend, Chris, is cool, sophisticated, and mysterious, but she harbors the secret that her father is an ex-Nazi estranged from her mother and living incognito in Argentina.

The Diary of Mordechai Ben-Yosef JBI
by Benjamin Wolman
2 volumes
Mordechai Ben-Yosef begins his diary in his fifteenth year and sets down the final entry in his sixteenth year. It has been a year of war. For Mordechai, it was the year in which he felt his first strong impulse toward a career as an artist. He has known love for the first time, and with it a torrent of unreasoning jealousy. He lost first his father, who is missing in the war, and then Miriam, the girl he loves. Contains references to incidents of Israeli history of the past decade.

Jewish-American Stories JBI

LC 19.9:

In this commonplace world everyone is said to be romantic who either admires a finer thing or does one.

Alexander Pope

Cover: Even the prickliest pessimist can be swayed by the high romance of a sweeping novel such as Gone with the Wind or Wuthering Heights. The NLS braille collection offers not only these, but also many Harlequin titles for springtime reading.

Braille Book Review

May-June 1986
Volume 55, Number 3

Braille Book Review is published bimonthly and distributed free to blind and physically handicapped individuals who participate in the Library of Congress free reading program. It lists braille magazines and books available through a network of cooperating libraries. The braille edition also lists recorded books, giving abbreviated annotations. News about library services is featured in both editions.

The annotated list in this issue is limited to titles recently added to the national collection, which contains thousands of fiction and nonfiction titles, including classics, biographies, Gothics, mysteries, and how-to and self-help guides. To learn more about the wide range of books in the national collection, readers may order catalogs and subject bibliographies from cooperating libraries. Librarians can check other resources for titles and answer requests for special materials.

Books for the Heart

Romantic novels create exciting worlds where mundane concerns give way and love takes charge. If you would like to join the heroes and heroines of these stories as they encounter exciting — but often trying — romantic adventures, the NLS braille collection offers many tempting titles, both contemporary and classic. To find out more about what is available check out one of the books below or consult the Romances bibliography at your cooperating library.

Heartwaves (BR 6008) by Deborah Kent. Melanie meets a gorgeous-sounding boy on her ham radio. They exchange pictures, but Melanie sends Gary a picture of her best friend, a real beauty. When they finally meet face to face, Melanie discovers that Gary had a secret, too. A Caprice Romance for junior and senior high readers. 1985.

Bitter Homecoming (BR 5638) by Jan McClean. The bitter, withdrawn man who returns to Sevenoaks is not the man Kate knew and loved. Of course, his wife's death would have been traumatic, but Adam refused to speak about it. While Kate hopes her love for Adam will still the ghost of his past, he gives her no chance at all. Harlequin novel. 1984.

Great Love Stories from the Saturday Evening Post (BR 5599) edited by Julie Eisenhower. Romantic stories published in Saturday Evening Post magazine. Authors include Sinclair Lewis, William Saroyan, John Cheever, Dorothy Thomas, and Kurt Vonnegut, Jr. 1984.

Escape from Paris (BR 5705) by Carolyn G. Hart. Occupied Paris, 1941, is the back-drop for a chilling tale of romance and adventure. Two American sisters challenge Nazi authority by becoming links in an underground escape route for Allied servicemen. 1984.

Pride and Prejudice (BR 1583) by Jane Austen. An early nineteenth-century English novel of manners centering on five marriageable sisters, particularly the rather nonconformist Elizabeth. 1813.

A Farewell to Arms (BR 1599) by Ernest Hemingway. An American lieutenant serving in the ambulance service in Italy falls in love with an English nurse during World War I. Their love story presents a powerful argument against war. Some strong language. 1929.

Romeo and Juliet (BR 1109) by William Shakespeare. A sixteenth-century romantic tragedy of two young lovers from rival families who fall in love. A sentence of exile and an impending arranged marriage force the two to flee. A friar suggests a ruse to accomplish their union, but miscommunication causes the plan to backfire. 1595.

New Recorded Book Catalogs

Two new listings of NLS recorded books were recently published by NLS. Cassette Books 1985 contains titles and descriptions of all the adult and young adult cassette books produced for the NLS program last year. More than 1,100 books are listed alphabetically within fifty-eight subject categories including bestsellers, literature, adventure, and science fiction. Separate sections of the catalog list books for young adult readers and books written and recorded in foreign languages.

Talking Books Adult 1984–1985 is a compilation of descriptions of the 650 adult books recorded on flexible and hard disc during the past two years. It, too, is divided into categories so that readers can easily find books in their favorite subjects.

Both catalogs are being mailed directly to readers who ordered them last year. For those who did not pre-order the large-print editions, copies can be obtained free from cooperating libraries. As in past years, both catalogs will be recorded as books for the national collection and will be available on loan from cooperating libraries. The direct-mailed flexible-disc editions listed on this year's publications order form will not be available due to budgetary constraints.

For more information on the two catalogs or the books listed within them, contact your cooperating library.

Newsstand

The following announcement may be of interest to readers. The National Library Service reserves the right to publish announcements selectively, as space permits. Items mentioned, however, are not part of the NLS program, and their listing does not imply endorsement.

Large Cell Brailler. Howe Press of Perkins School for the Blind has announced the availability of a new machine called the Large Cell Brailler. For many years, Howe Press has manufactured a Jumbo Dot Brailler which produced larger dots within a larger cell than standard braillers. The new brailler uses the Perkins Braille Dot housed in the larger cell and with increased spacing, which they believe is superior to the old Jumbo Dot Brailler.

In addition, Howe Press is producing a slate designed specifically for preparing cassette labels in braille. The slate is about the size of a cassette tape and is constructed to easily hold the adhesive-backed labels which are sold with the slate. For information about either of the two items or for a free sample sheet which allows you to compare large cell and jumbo dot braille, write or call: Howe Press of Perkins School for the Blind, 175 North Beacon Street, Watertown, MA 02172, (617) 924-3490.

Books for Adults

The following books were recently produced for the NLS program. Books with the BR code are produced in press braille. Books with the BRA code are thermoform copies of braille books handcopied for NLS by volunteers. To order books with the BR and BRA codes, complete the order form and return it to your braille-lending library.

Because handcopied books are in very limited supply, your requests may have to be placed on a waiting list. Please be prompt to read and return handcopied books within a few weeks for the sake of other readers who are waiting. The average loan period is four weeks. In unusual circumstances, however, readers may keep their volumes longer.

Note: For the information of the reader, a notice may appear immediately following the book description to indicate occurrences of strong language, explicit descriptions of sex, or violence. The word "some" before any of these terms indicates an occasional or infrequent occurrence, as in "some strong language."

Press Braille Nonfiction

Understand Your Backache: A Guide to Prevention, Treatment, and Relief BR 6034
by Rene Cailliet
2 volumes
A physician explains how the lumbar spine functions, where pain can result, and how improper movement or position of the spine can irritate tissues and cause pain. He suggests methods of treatment, exercises, biofeedback, and other approaches in dealing with low back pain. 1984.

How to Sell Your Ideas BR 6052
by Jesse S. Nirenberg
2 volumes
Instructs the reader in developing communication skills in business and in private life. Describes how to capture a listener's attention, how to anticipate obstacles, and how to persuade others. 1984.

Peace in the Family: A Workbook of Ideas and Actions BR 6058
by Lois Dorn
with Penni Eldredge-Martin
2 volumes
This guide for individuals or for family support groups stresses the importance of developing positive relationships. Offers a down-to-earth approach to family living and tells how to find alternatives to traditional discipline and solve problems in ways that meet the needs of everyone involved. 1983.

Everywoman's Legal Guide: Protecting Your Rights at Home, in the Workplace, and in the Marketplace BR 6059
by Barbara A. Burnett
7 volumes
Covers not only subjects of specific interest to women, i.e., rape, the displaced homemaker, and sexual harassment, but also topics of general concern such as retirement, family violence, and health and the law. 1983.

The Divorce Decision: The Legal and Human Consequences of Ending a Marriage BR 6064
by Richard Neely
2 volumes
A West Virginia judge offers a provocative commentary on divorce, particularly its often downplayed disadvantages. He also provides an inside look at the workings of a divorce court and its impact on the individual and the family. 1984.

Endless War: How We Got Involved in Central America — And What Can Be Done BR 6099
by James Chace
1 volume
A journalist attempts to explain the history of U.S. involvement in Central America, offers an analysis of the present situation, and suggests alternatives to President Reagan's policies. Chace believes that only by implementing policies that demilitarize the region can we succeed there. 1984.

With Hemingway: A Year in Key West and Cuba BR 6156
by Arnold Samuelson
3 volumes
When Samuelson hitchhiked to Key West in 1934, he was a twenty-two-year-old farm boy and aspiring writer who had hopes that the great Hemingway would spare "a few minutes to talk about writing." The novelist took the young man under his wing and hired him to help out on his cabin cruiser. 1984.

Everyday Phrases: Their Origins and Meanings BR 6159
by Neil Ewart
2 volumes
Alphabetically arranged collection of more than four hundred catch phrases with explanations of their meanings and origins. Entries range from well-known expressions such as "To put the cart before the horse" and "To strike while the iron is hot" to the more obscure, typically British phrases such as "To wear an Albert" and "All my eye and Betty Martin." 1983.

The Limits of Science BR 6163
by P.B. Medawar
1 volume
Meditations of a Nobel Prize-winning immunologist on the nature and limitations of science. Medawar suggests that science is the most successful and fulfilling possible human enterprise when it is pursued for the kind of answers it is capable of providing. 1984.

Self-Esteem and Adjusting with Blindness: The Process of Responding to Life's Demands BR 6183
by Dean W. Tuttle
4 volumes
Offers a model of adjusting to blindness and developing self-esteem. Includes guidelines for professionals who work with blind individuals. 1984.

How to Break Your Addiction to a Person BR 6184
by Howard M. Halpern
2 volumes
Psychotherapist Halpern finds that the three major factors which cause people to remain in unrewarding "love" relationships are practicality, belief, and — most importantly — infant-based "attachment hungers." Halpern suggests that those who are considering "withdrawing" from a relationship keep a detailed diary and develop a network of friends for support. 1983.

The Working Woman Report: Succeeding in Business in the Eighties BR 6185 by editors of Working Woman
with Gay Bryant
4 volumes
Seeks to evaluate the success women have in the work force and to explain what still must be accomplished. Benefits, salary inequality, and professionalism are discussed. 1984.

Dr. Lendon Smith's Low-Stress Diet BR 6192
by Lendon Smith
2 volumes
Offers a diet meant to take account of emotions as well as calories. Dr. Smith suggests assessing the stresses in one's life to target possible nutritional deprivation. Separate diet variations are tailored for various occupations, and special attention is paid to food addictions. 1984.

George Washington: A Biography BR 6193
by John R. Alden
3 volumes
This book demonstrates Washington's ability to learn and grow as his role in the founding of the Republic changed. Emphasizes his childhood, marriage, and life at Mount Vernon. His leadership as commander-in-chief of the Continental Army is featured, as are the post-Revolutionary years when the aging Washington is drawn out of retirement to become America's first president. 1984.

Slumgullion Stew: An Edward Abbey Reader BR 6196
by Edward Abbey
3 volumes
Collection of articles and stories from Abbey's books, dating from 1954 to the present. Most episodes recount his rambles into out-of-the-way places — the Australian outback, western Mexico, and the Southwest. Abbey emphasizes toughness, endurance, and survival. 1984.

Prince Albert: A Biography BR 6197
by Robert Rhodes James
4 volumes
Portrait of Queen Victoria's consort begins with Albert's birth in 1819 and ends with his death at age forty-two. Though he was frequently viewed as a stiff, dull figure, Prince Albert is depicted in this biography as a sensitive man with a lively wit and great love for his family. 1984.

A Woman's Decision: Breast Care, Treatment, and Reconstruction
BR 6203
by Karen Berger and John Bostwick III
3 volumes
The authors endorse breast reconstruction as both a safe procedure and a reasonable measure to help women overcome the psychological and physical trauma of cancer surgery. They first describe normal breast structure, explain techniques of breast self-examination, and discuss what breast lumps may mean. They also give the latest on breast cancer treatment. 1984.

Yeager: An Autobiography BR 6204
by Chuck Yeager and Leo Janos
4 volumes
Self-portrait of a real-life hero. Born in the hills of West Virginia, Chuck Yeager first became known for his abilities as a fighter pilot during World War II. Grit, a strong instinct for survival, and keen eyesight made him the victor in countless dogfights. He also became the nation's premier test pilot — defying death and breaking all speed records. Some strong language. Bestseller 1985.

The Trouble with America BR 6206
by Michael Crozier
2 volumes
A leading French sociologist, Crozier first visited the United States immediately after World War II and found it a generous, hopeful society. Upon subsequent visits and in 1980, he saw the country differently. Here he examines the transformation from hope to stagnation in U.S. life and concludes that prolonged success ultimately brings decline. He further emphasizes that Americans have put too much faith in their institutions. 1984.

Making Sense of Grammar BR 6209
by John Clark Jordan
1 volume
Concise explanation of modern English that discusses the structures and functions of simple, compound, and complex sentences. Also explains the various relationships that nouns, verbs, adjectives, adverbs, prepositions, and conjunctions have with each other in sentences, clauses, and phrases. 1980.

Better Homes and Gardens* Forever Favorite Crochet BR 6231
2 volumes
Easy designs for crocheting doilies, edgings for linens, sweaters, afghans, and pillows. Also reviews the basic crochet stitches. 1984.

The History of the World Series since 1903 BR 6254
by Glenn Dickey
4 volumes
A widely read sports writer picks what he considers to be the most memorable World Series games over an eighty-year period and highlights some of the proudest and most scandalous moments of our national pastime. He includes statistics on every World Series, "to settle some arguments and probably start others." 1984.

The Little Kingdom: The Private Story of Apple Computer BR 6256
by Michael Moritz
4 volumes
This is a microchip-by-microchip account of Apple Computer, Inc., from its hobbyist origin to a billion-dollar-plus corporation. Moritz traces co-founders Steven Jobs and Stephen Wozniak from their Silicon Valley childhoods to their present eminence. 1984.

Daddyji — Mamaji BR 6258
by Ved Mehta
3 volumes
Memoir of the author's mother and his father, an Indian public health officer. Mamaji's background did little to prepare her for life with an English-educated doctor who regarded her Hindu practices as superstitions. Also includes the author's experiences in an Indian school for the blind. 1972 and 1979.

The Blood of Abraham BR 6267
by Jimmy Carter
3 volumes
Carter's experiences negotiating the Camp David accords, his visits to the Middle East, and portraits of Arab and Israeli leaders. The former president maintains that peace in the Middle East must be based on Israeli recognition of the Palestinians' right to self-determination and Arab recognition of Israel's right to exist. Bestseller 1985.

R Is for Reading: Library Service to Blind and Physically Handicapped Children BR 6269
edited by Leslie Eldridge
2 volumes
How can the Library of Congress's National Library Service for the Blind and Physically Handicapped (NLS) improve its service to children? Leslie Eldridge, a former NLS librarian in San Francisco, addresses this question to special education teachers, child counselors, reading specialists, librarians, and handicapped children and their mothers. Their responses offer specific suggestions concerning changes in library materials, equipment, and methods. 1985.

Sharks: An Introduction for the Amateur Naturalist BR 6272
by Sanford A. Moss
3 volumes
This discussion of the biology and behavior of the much maligned shark seems to offer everything one would want to know about these graceful creatures — even how to cook them. 1984.

The Ford of Heaven BR 6276
by Brian Power
2 volumes
Power recalls growing up in revolutionary China during the 1920s and 1930s. With other expatriates, his family lived in the foreign concession of Tientsin, translated as "The Ford of Heaven," where he stayed until he was eighteen. Power's descriptions of his family are told with warmth and compassion. 1984.

Press Braille Fiction

The Proprietor BR 6019
by Ann Schlee
3 volumes
Thirty-year-old Augustus Walmer, the only survivor of a banking family, and the "proprietor" of a group of English offshore islands, returns in 1836 from the mainland to devote his life to a noble experiment. He reforms the islands' economy for the sake of the inhabitants' happiness, but his inflexible, autocratic ways make him hated and feared by the islanders. 1983.

The Prince of Berlin BR 6056
by Dan Sherman
2 volumes
CIA spymaster Harry Rose is a man of mysterious origins who has been with the agency since World War II and is the powerul station chief in Berlin. After a disastrous East German mission in which Rose's best friend, Charlie Wilde, is caught, Rose is demoted. Then Rose disappears and the CIA sends two agents to find him, one of whom is the returned Charlie Wilde. Some strong language. 1984.

Madrid Underground: A Superintendent Bernal Mystery BR 6057
by David Serafin
2 volumes
During the height of Spain's turbulent, first post-Franco elections of 1977, a psychopathic killer mutilates women and leaves their dismembered bodies on Madrid's Metro subway trains. Superintendent Bernal, with the resources of the city's investigative team, desperately tries to track down the murderer. 1984.

The Other David BR 6063
by Carolyn Coker
2 volumes
A beautiful, young American art historian serving an apprenticeship in Florence discovers what she believes to be a Michelangelo portrait of the young man who posed for the famous statue of David. Unfortunately someone else also knows the value of the painting and marks the young woman for death. 1984.

Harvesting Ballads BR 6073
by Philip Kimball
4 volumes
A young drifter and orphan named Sorry wanders the Great Plains searching for his identity and his past. The lives of the settlers, the Indians, and the cowboys of the past are all part of the background of this ambitious first novel spanning the depression years through the 1960s. Strong language and explicit descriptions of sex. 1984.

Virgin and Martyr BR 6079
by Andrew M. Greeley
4 volumes
Four men meet to read the will of young Catholic missionary Cathy Collins after she is killed by Latin American soldiers. The men are Nick Curran, her lawyer; Father Ed Carney, leader of the mission in Costaguana; Joe McNally, attorney for a political group named in Cathy's will; and Father Blackie Ryan, her beloved cousin. They all struggle to unlock the mystery of Cathy's life. Some descriptions of sex. Bestseller 1985.

Dream of Orchids BR 6083
by Phyllis A. Whitney
3 volumes
A romantic Gothic mystery about modern-day piracy set in Key West, Florida. Abandoned in childhood by her novelist father, Laurel approaches a reconciliation with him and becomes entangled in the deadly secrets of her "second" family. While her half-sisters battle over a man and their mother's legacy, Laurel tries to understand the puzzle of her stepmother's bizarre death in the lush orchid greenhouse. Bestseller 1985.

Moscow Rules BR 6089
by Robert Moss
4 volumes
Though still in his thirties, Sasha is a general and a spymaster for military intelligence. He is also the right-hand man of the Red Army's chief of staff — and a traitor. As a snhoolboy Sasha learned his father was killed in cold blood by a KGB colonel, and he plans revenge even when it costs him the life of his first love. Strong language and some descriptions of sex. Bestseller 1985.

The Titan BR 6090
by Fred Mustard Stewart
5 volumes
A family saga and historical panorama that stars a low-born man whose goal in life is to amass unlimited wealth and power. His single greatest mistake is his decision to desert the one woman whose drive for success rivals his own. Some strong language and some explicit descriptions of sex. Book club main selection 1985.

Men and Angels BR 6093
by Mary Gordon
3 volumes
Anne Foster, an art historian with two children, is immersed in a project on the work of an American artist and is unable to accompany her husband to France on a sabbatical. Anne's live-in domestic help, Laura, proves unstable, and their unusual relationship provides a needed lesson in love between parent and child and between spouses. Some descriptions of sex. 1985.

The Twelfth Juror BR 6154
by B.M. Gill
2 volumes
Ever since his arrest for the murder of his wife Jocelyn, London television personality Edward Carne has maintained an air of self-confidence and calm — outwardly, at least. But as the trial is about to begin and the final jurist puts his hand on the Bible to take the oath, Carne senses a joker in the pack and feels very uneasy. 1984.

The Best of Trek #4: From the Magazine for Star Trek Fans BR 6157 edited by Walter Irwin and G.B. Love
2 volumes
This excursion into the universe of Star Trek includes a close-up look at the life, loves, and career of Uhura; recent discoveries about the mysterious Preservers; and new views of the Kirk-Spock-McCoy relationship. For high school and adult readers. 1981.

Life Penalty BR 6187
by Joy Fielding
3 volumes
After the brutal rape and murder of her lovely six-year-old daughter, New Jersey housewife Gail Walton vows to catch the killer herself when the police cannot find him. She buys a gun and sets herself up as a decoy. Strong language. 1984.

If Tomorrow Comes BR 6188
by Sidney Sheldon
3 volumes
Tracy Whitney, a sweet young thing engaged to a wealthy banker, is framed by untouchable crime lords and sent to prison. Tracy herself eventually turns to a life of high-class crime, but no matter how many schemes she pulls off, love always seems just beyond her grasp. Strong language and explicit descriptions of sex. Bestseller 1985.

A Bell for Adano BR 6191
by John Hersey
2 volumes
A novel about Americans in Italy at the end of World War II. An Italian-American major tries to rebuild an occupied town on democratic principles and runs into red tape and prejudice. Some strong language. Pulitzer Prize 1945.

It Can't Be My Grave BR 6200
by S.F.X. Dean
2 volumes
Professor Neil Kelly, an American specialist in Renaissance poetry and an amateur sleuth, is in London for the British publication of his surprise bestseller on the life of John Donne. Kelly soon becomes involved with the denizens of London's publishing establishment and through them with a long-lost sixteenth-century play and a brutal murder. 1984.

Jubal Sackett BR 6207
by Louis L'Amour
3 volumes
Continues the popular saga of the Sackett clan. This latest installment features Jubal Sackett, a wily, homespun seventeenth-century hero who sets off to traverse the vast, unexplored North American hinterland. Jubal befriends Keokotah, a proud Kickapoo brave, and together they help shield a beautiful Natchez princess from a vengeful Indian and an unscrupulous Spanish soldier. Bestseller 1985.

Smoke Detector: An Inspector Charlie Salter Mystery BR 6253
by Eric Wright
2 volumes
Inspector Charlie Salter of the Toronto police is assigned to investigate the arson-related death of antique dealer Cyril Drecker. Books for Children

The following books were recently produced for the NLS program. Books with the BR code are produced in press braille. Books with the BRA code are thermoform copies of braille books handcopied for NLS by volunteers. To order books with the BR and BRA codes, complete the order form and return it to your braille-lending library.

Because handcopied books are in very limited supply, your requests may have to be placed on a waiting list. Please be prompt to read and return handcopied books within a few weeks for the sake of other readers who are waiting. The average loan period is four weeks. In unusual circumstances, however, readers may keep their volumes longer.

Note: For the information of the reader, a notice may appear immediately following the book description to indicate occurrences of strong language, explicit descriptions of sex, or violence. The word "some" before any of these terms indicates an occasional or infrequent occurrence, as in "some strong language."

Braille Book Review

July-August 1986
Volume 55, Number 4

Braille Book Review is published bimonthly and distributed free to blind and physically handicapped individuals who participate in the Library of Congress free reading program. It lists braille magazines and books available through a network of cooperating libraries. The braille edition also lists recorded books, giving abbreviated annotations. News about library services is featured in both editions.

The annotated list in this issue is limited to titles recently added to the national collection, which contains thousands of fiction and nonfiction titles, including classics, biographies, Gothics, mysteries, and how-to and self-help guides. To learn more about the wide range of books in the national collection, readers may order catalogs and subject bibliographies from cooperating libraries. Librarians can check other resources for titles and answer requests for special materials.

Glamorous Mysteries

The world of high finance, in both its legal and illegal aspects, is the power-packed background for some of the newest mystery and detective books in the national collection. Brokerage firms, gambling houses, the wine and whiskey business, the race track, and a number of other settings may be safely entered for an evening's entertainment within the confines of a braille book. Other worlds the reader may encounter include the outdoor life of Colorado, the interior landscapes of psychiatric patients and clairvoyants, or the more socially aware world with nuclear waste dumps. For information, browse below or contact your braille-lending library.

Glitz (BR 6085) by Elmore Leonard. The world of casino gambling is presented with tension, tenderness, and humor. In Puerto Rico, tough Miami cop Vincent Mora meets pretty Iris Ruiz who is headed for a job in an Atlantic City casino. When Iris is found dead, Mora investigates her murder amid the hired killers and high rollers of the New Jersey resort. Strong language and descriptions of sex. Bestseller 1985.

Proof (BR 6086) by Dick Francis. An intensive look at the wine and whiskey business within the complex racing world milieu. Tony Beach, a widower, fights his bouts of grief by keeping busy at his wine shop and working for canny private eye Gerard McGregor, who is trying to nab some killer hijackers selling scotch with forged labels. Bestseller 1985.

Cold Light of Day (BR 6051) by Emma Page. Young, successful bachelor Gavin Elliott, owner of a three-branch brokerage firm, is the last man one would expect to find stabbed to death in his own home. The prime suspect is Gavin's half-brother Howard, who is in charge of one branch of the firm. But Inspector Kelsey and Sergeant Lambert unravel a tangled plot that leads to the real killer.

Illusion (BR 6006) by Mignon Warner. The famous clairvoyant Mrs. Edwina Charles is stranded, along with the cast and crew of the musical, "Abracadabra," at the home of Danny Midas, the show's producer, director, and star. When the eccentric housekeeper dies of a heart attack, the chauffeur is killed by a shotgun blast, and phone wires are cut, Midas hires Edwina to solve the mystery.

Abbey Is Missing (BR 6070) by Dorothy Woolfolk. Donna Rockford senses danger in the air even before her younger sister Abbey vanishes on a mountain-climbing trip in Colorado. Donna has just begun tracking clues and questioning people when one of the suspects is injured and Donna finds herself under investigation. Easy reading for junior and senior high readers.

The Ransom Game: A Benny Cooperman Mystery (BR 6175) by Howard Engel. In Frantham, Ontario, shy, humorous Jewish detective Benny Cooperman is hired by luscious Muriel Falkirk to find her missing boyfriend, Johnny Rosa, on parole after six years imprisonment on a kidnapping conviction. Johnny is the only one who knows where the ransom money is hidden. The complex plot includes murder, the Mafia, the Mounties, adultery, and intimation of incest.

Mr. Yesterday (BR 6174) by Elliott Chaze. A dotty old widow, who has been holding out against selling her land for a proposed nuclear waste dump, dies in an odd household accident. When her sister and a goat are also found dead City Editor St. James and Chief Detective Orson Boles begin to wonder if the deaths are connected with the dump site. Offbeat, colorful, and bawdy. Strong language and some descriptions of sex.

Therapy for Murder (BR 6167) by Laura Munder. Sara Marks, a psychologist in a clinic just outside Washington, D.C., is saddened when a patient who she believes is recovering dies as an apparent suicide. Gradually, Sara begins to suspect another patient at the clinic as a possible murderer. Some strong language.

Great French Detective Stories (BR 6166) edited by T.J. Hale. Representative short story anthology of a century of French and Belgian detective writers includes Jacques Decrest, Pierre Very, Jype Carraud, Georges Simenon, and Leo Malet. All are considered highly original innovators of their genre, and some of the stories predate Sherlock Holmes.

Not Dead, Only Resting: A Charles Paris Crime Novel (BR 6028) by Simon Brett. Actor Charles Paris, currently out of work, takes a job decorating a flat over a fashionable actors' restaurant in London. After discovering the mutilated body of the restaurant owner's lover, Paris is drawn into the investigation of the murder and the disappearance of the chief suspect.

Children's Book Catalog

Books produced by NLS for children during the past two years are listed in the For Younger Readers 1984–1985 catalog, which has just been published in large print and braille. In the large-print edition, nearly seven hundred disc, cassette, and braille books are divided into thirty-three categories of fiction and nonfiction books arranged alphabetically. Separate sections of books for very young readers and books in Spanish are followed by separate title and author indexes. A braille edition is also available listing only braille books.

The catalogs are being mailed directly to readers who ordered them last year. For those who did not pre-order, copies may be obtained free from cooperating libraries. The catalog will be recorded as a book for the national collection and will be available on loan from cooperating libraries. The direct-mail flexible-disc edition listed on this year's publications order form will not be available because of budgetary constraints.

For more information on the catalogs or the books listed within them, contact your cooperating library.

Reference Circulars Available

Compilations of current information on topics of wide interest to blind and handicapped individuals are published as reference circulars by NLS. Two of these publications are available in braille. The circulars are also available in standard print, and both formats are available from your cooperating library. The two reference circulars in braille are as follows:

Sources of Braille Reading Materials. Lists sources of braille materials available on loan or for purchase, rental, or free distribution. 1985.

From School to Working Life: Resources and Services. Gives information to help disabled students make the transition from high school to higher education or working life. 1985.

Newsstand

The following announcements may be of interest to readers. The National Library Service reserves the right to publish announcements selectively, as space permits. Items mentioned, however, are not part of the NLS program, and their listing does not imply endorsement.

Articles in Braille. Careers and the Handicapped, an annual publication put out by Equal Opportunity Publications, Inc., includes a braille digest of the articles in the publication. For a copy of the print edition which contains the braille digest, send $5 to Equal Opportunity Publications, Inc., 44 Broadway, Greenlawn, NY 11740 or call (516) 261-8917.

APA Manual Available. The Publication Manual of the American Psychological Association has been brailled by a member of the Blue Ridge Braillers Textbook Division and is available in exchange for braillon. The manual describes correct style and format for manuscripts submitted to journals and for theses, dissertations, and student papers in the behavioral sciences. Write: Blue Ridge Braillers, Textbook Division, 391-393 Hendersonville Road, Asheville, NC 28803.

College Football Schedules. National Collegiate Athletic Association braille football schedules are available for $3 from Allen H. Gillis, Route 12, Box 2985, Cullman, AL 35055.

Books for Adults

The following books were recently produced for the NLS program. Books with the BR code are produced in press braille. Books with the BRA code are thermoform copies of braille books handcopied for NLS by volunteers. To order books with the BR and BRA codes, complete the order form and return it to your braille-lending library.

Because handcopied books are in very limited supply, your requests may have to be placed on a waiting list. Please be prompt to read and return handcopied books within a few weeks for the sake of other readers who are waiting. The average loan period is four weeks. In unusual circumstances, however, readers may keep their volumes longer.

Note: For the information of the reader, a notice may appear immediately following the book description to indicate occurrences of strong language, explicit descriptions of sex, or violence. The word "some" before any of these terms indicates an occasional or infrequent occurrence, as in "some strong language."

Press Braille Nonfiction

Stress and Survival: The Emotional Realities of Life-Threatening Illness BR 6189 edited by Charles A. Garfield
6 volumes
Essays on the importance of interpersonal relations presented by doctors, nurses, mental health professionals, and patients. The basic premise that a supportive human presence can markedly decrease the patient's level of stress while increasing the will to live and capacity to overcome illness is illustrated with concrete examples. 1979.

Disabling America: The "Rights Industry" in Our Time BR 6194
by Richard E. Morgan
3 volumes
A harsh, controversial book argues that interest group advocates, which the author calls the "American rights industry," have influenced the Supreme Court to undermine law and order and corrupt the Constitution. The conservative author-professor suggests that racial quotas have destabilized the nation's schools and that the court system is obsessively preoccupied with defendants' "rights." 1984.

The Transfer Agreement: The Untold Story of the Secret Agreement between the Third Reich and Jewish Palestine BRA 17695
by Edwin Black
12 volumes
The author, the son of Polish refugees from the Holocaust, reveals the history of a covert agreement. Hitler allowed sixty thousand German Jews to emigrate to Palestine in exchange for Jewish leaders' ceasing both their organized protest against the Nazis and the anti-Nazi boycott of German goods. 1984.

Loyalties BRA 17775
by Daniel Patrick Moynihan
2 volumes
In three thoughtful essays, Senator Moynihan maintains that "plain loyalty" to both principles and people is often lacking in American foreign affairs. He feels the United States lacks commitment to the role of law in international affairs and offers the Grenada invasion as an example. 1984.

My Works and Days: A Personal Chronicle BRA 17823
by Lewis Mumford
15 volumes
Social philosopher, art critic, and multi-faceted author Mumford presents selected writings from previous publications, letters, unpublished manuscripts, random notes, and lectures. They cover among many subjects: adolescence, love, marriage, children, friends, European travels, and literature. 1979.

The Now and Future Church: The Psychology of Being an American Catholic BRA 17825
by Eugene Kennedy
4 volumes
An ex-priest sketches the social history of twentieth-century American Catholicism and sees a grand scenario for the twenty-first century. Kennedy believes that what is needed is a more democratic church, based on dialogue, not edicts. 1984.

Encounters with Chinese Writers BRA 17831
by Annie Dillard
2 volumes
Based on her experience as a member of a delegation of U.S. writers to China in 1982 and later as host to a group of Chinese writers in America, Dillard gathers together her insights into both the Chinese people and her compatriots in this collection of essays. 1984.

Under the Sign of Saturn BRA 17844
by Susan Sontag
4 volumes
Essays explore the relationship between moral and aesthetic ideas. Sontag celebrates the work and laments the loss of such figures as Paul Goodman, Antonin Artaud, Walter Benjamin, and Roland Barthes. 1980.

Clare: Selected Poems and Prose BRA 18043
by John Clare

A Last Wild Place BRA 18044
by Mike Tomkies
4 volumes
The naturalist author describes his life and the cycle of nature in the harsh, isolated, but beautiful Scottish Western Highlands. 1984.

Sir Francis Drake BRA 18046
by George Thomson
5 volumes
Account of the life and times of the most famous man of the Elizabethan age. The author depicts Drake as a man of heroic qualities and intelligence who, although a freebooter, corsair, and adventurer, was also a deeply religious man who acted more for the glory of England than for personal gain. 1972.

King William IV BRA 18047
by Philip Ziegler
5 volumes
Biography of the cheerful but often awkward and intemperate monarch who succeeded to the British throne in 1830 — a time when depression and miserable conditions at home brought the monarchy to its lowest ebb of popularity. 1971.

Great Legal Disasters BRA 18107
by Stephen Tumim
2 volumes
Collection of anecdotes, covering three hundred years of British legal history, that point out the eccentricities of law, the legal mishaps and misunderstandings, and the calamitous courtroom antics that have been an embarrassment to the legal system, but which have shown a lighter side of a wholly serious profession. 1983.

Handcopied Braille Fiction

Make Death Love Me BRA 17845
by Ruth Rendell
4 volumes
Depicts the confined, claustrophic world of Alan Groombridge, the manager of a small English village bank, bound to a daily grind that begins and ends with his complaining wife and demanding father-in-law. But Groombridge, a romantic, longs to break away from his tedium. Fate, in the form of two teenage bank robbers, gives him his chance. Some strong language. 1979.

The Napping House BR 6117
by Audrey Wood
1 volume
A snoring granny, a dreaming child, a dozing dog, a snoozing cat, and a slumbering mouse in the napping house are disturbed by a wakeful flea. A cumulative tale. PRINT/BRAILLE. For preschool-grade 2. 1984.

Hitty, Her First Hundred Years BR 6224
by Rachel Field
2 volumes
Hitty, a doll of real character who was carved from a block of mountain ash, writes the story of her eventful life from the security of an antique shop window. For grades 4-7 and older readers. Newbery Award 1929.

Johnny Tremain BR 6225
by Esther Forbes
2 volumes
After a burn severely cripples his right hand, Tremain becomes a courier for the Committee of Public Safety and a hero in the early days of the American Revolution. The excitement he experiences includes the Boston Tea Party and the Battle of Lexington. For grades 4-7. Newbery Award 1943.

Rotten Ralph's Rotten Christmas
BR 6281
by Jack Gantos
1 volume
Christmas is coming — but Sarah's cat, Rotten Ralph, is as naughty as ever. A sweet kitten named Percy has moved into the household, and Ralph is jealous. For preschool-grade 2. 1984.

Ramona Forever BR 6284
by Beverly Cleary
1 volume
Ramona Quimby's year in third grade is filled with discoveries and two surprises — one of them very big and the other very little! For grades 3-5 to share with older readers. 1984.

Pinky Pye BR 6295
by Eleanor Estes
2 volumes
While spending the summer bird watching on Fire Island, the Pye family acquires an enchanting black kitten who can use the typewriter. For grades 4-7. 1958.

Thunderbird BR 6304
by Marilyn Sachs
1 volume
Tina's passion is cars, especially her own 1957 Thunderbird. Dennis has never heard of the Thunderbird and he's not at all interested in cars. Tina and Dennis have nothing in common — except their growing interest in each other. For grades 6-9 and older readers looking for easy reading. 1985.

S.O.R. Losers BR 6317
by Avi
1 volume
Ed Sitrow and ten other "nonjock" classmates have avoided athletic teams since they've been at South Orange River Middle School. Now a special soccer team has been created — just for them. Ed and the other boys make the worst team in the school's history but they prove to themselves — and to their schoolmates — that there's more than one way to be a winner. For grades 5-8 and older readers. 1984.

The Ghost in the Lagoon BR 6321
by Natalie Savage Carlson
1 volume
Everyone says the lagoon is haunted, but Timmy and his father explore it anyway. They encounter a pirate's ghost who stands guard over a buried treasure. For grades 3-6. 1984.

Cover: What characteristics does a person need in order to influence the course of history—luck, charisma, ingenuity, intelligence, or some special combination of these traits? Biographies of famous people, books about important events, and a wealth of historical novels in braille in the national collection offer intriguing answers to this question.

Braille Book Review

September-October 1986
Volume 55, Number 5

Braille Book Review is published bimonthly and distributed free to blind and physically handicapped individuals who participate in the Library of Congress free reading program. It lists braille magazines and books available through a network of cooperating libraries. The braille edition also lists recorded books, giving abbreviated annotations. News about library services is featured in both editions.

The annotated list in this issue is limited to titles recently added to the national collection, which contains thousands of fiction and nonfiction titles, including classics, biographies, Gothics, mysteries, and how-to and self-help guides. To learn more about the wide range of books in the national collection, readers may order catalogs and subject bibliographies from cooperating libraries. Librarians can check other resources for titles and answer requests for special materials.

In Brief

Microbibliography

Before the House of Windsor

With the marriage of Prince Charles and Lady Diana, the birth of their children, and the marriage of Prince Andrew and Sarah Ferguson, the British royal family has been frequently in the news. History is being made, succession to the throne and tradition renewed. Things were not always so easy. In centuries past, rights of succession sparked feuds and violence. Passions ran high. Relatives turned on one another and religious institutions refused to bend to the will of the monarch. To gain perspective on the royal house, readers may want to check out a historical or fictional account of the periods and personalities covered in a variety of braille books from the national collection. Among those available are:

Mistress Anne (BR 5944) by Carolly Erickson. Portrait of the shrewd, demanding woman who played on Henry VIII's need for a son and his infatuation for her to become his second queen. Erickson shows that Henry's love for Anne Boleyn led to England's historic break with the Roman Catholic church. Queen for only three years, Anne was executed on charges of treason and adultery. 1983.

The Year of Three Kings, 1483 (BR 5691) by Giles St. Aubyn. Relates the drama of Richard III's usurption of the throne from his nephew Edward V and the murder of that hapless young prince and his brother. The author suggests that Richard, threatened by his enemies, secured his own safety in a spiral of violence that culminated in the "tower murders." 1983.

The Wars of the Roses: A Concise History (BR 4340) by Charles Ross. Reconstructs the peculiar combination of forces—loyalty, kinship, ambition, self-interest, and self-preservation—that propelled the combatants in the fifteenth-century English civil war. The nation and the warring parties were united after Lancastrian Henry Tudor, later Henry VII, defeated the Yorkist Richard III at the Battle of Bosworth. 1976.

The Making of Henry VIII (BR 4223) by Marie Louise Bruce. An examination of the childhood and adolescence of the controversial, revolutionary king. The author speculates that Henry's cruelties during his reign resulted from the atmosphere of distrust that surrounded his father. 1977.

King without a Crown: Albert, Prince Consort of England, 1819–1861 (BR 3731) by Daphne Bennett. This work, in contrast with other conventional portraits of Prince Albert, presents Queen Victoria's consort as a lively and sensitive man of intelligence, a romantically devoted husband, understanding father, and wise statesman. 1977.

Books for Adults

The following books were recently produced for the NLS program. Books with the BR code are produced in press braille. Books with the BRA code are thermoform copies of braille books handcopied for NLS by volunteers. To order books with the BR and BRA codes, complete the order form and return it to your braille-lending library.

Because handcopied books are in very limited supply, your requests may have to be placed on a waiting list. Please be prompt to read and return handcopied books within a few weeks for the sake of other readers who are waiting. The average loan period is four weeks. In unusual circumstances, however, readers may keep their volumes longer.

Note: For the information of the reader, a notice may appear immediately following the book description to indicate occurrences of strong language, explicit descriptions of sex, or violence. The word "some" before any of these terms indicates an occasional or infrequent occurrence, as in "some strong language."

Books for Children

The following books were recently produced for the NLS program. Books with the BR code are produced in press braille. Books with the BRA code are thermoform copies of braille books handcopied for NLS by volunteers. To order books with the BR and BRA codes, complete the order form and return it to your braille-lending library.

Because handcopied books are in very limited supply, your requests may have to be placed on a waiting list. Please be prompt to read and return handcopied books within a few weeks for the sake of other readers who are waiting. The average loan period is four weeks. In unusual circumstances, however, readers may keep their volumes longer.

Note: For the information of the reader, a notice may appear immediately following the book description to indicate occurrences of strong language, explicit descriptions of sex, or violence. The word "some" before any of these terms indicates an occasional or infrequent occurrence, as in "some strong language."

Cover: Giggles and chuckles are sure to be a welcome part of this festive holiday season. The national braille collection offers a number of books to tickle your funny bone, including the wit and wisdom of such writers as Will Rogers, P.G. Wodehouse, James Thurber, S.J. Perelman, and Woody Allen.

Braille Book Review

November-December 1986
Volume 55, Number 6

Braille Book Review is published bimonthly and distributed free to blind and physically handicapped individuals who participate in the Library of Congress free reading program. It lists braille magazines and books available through a network of cooperating libraries. The braille edition also lists recorded books, giving abbreviated annotations. News about library services is featured in both editions.

The annotated list in this issue is limited to titles recently added to the national collection, which contains thousands of fiction and nonfiction titles, including classics, biographies, Gothics, mysteries, and how-to and self-help guides. To learn more about the wide range of books in the national collection, readers may order catalogs and subject bibliographies from cooperating libraries. Librarians can check other resources for titles and answer requests for special materials.

In Brief

New Braille Order Forms

Because of difficulties coordinating the size of the envelopes with the size of the print/braille order forms in the braille edition of Braille Book Review, NLS is making the following change.

Beginning with the January–February 1987 issue, the braille order forms will be self-mailers. No envelopes will be needed. Instead of addressing envelopes, readers will address the order form itself for mailing. Instructions will be included, as will labels that can be typed on for those readers who wish to use them. No envelopes will be included in the package. Order forms in the print edition of Braille Book Review will remain the same.

Microbibliography

It's a Hoot!

Humor comes in many forms from the quick wit of stand-up comics to the sustained humor of storytellers and novelists. Speakers, too, make use of humor to "warm up" audiences, and poets may use humor in zany rhymes about life's recurring problems. When we find a funny rhyme or a biting quip in a book, it can help us laugh at our foibles. For a lighthearted romp through the national braille collection, choose the sort of humor that suits you from among the teasers listed below.

The Best of Modern Humor (BR 5728) edited by Mordecai Richler. A selection of prose pieces by sixty-four authors offers a wide range of twentieth-century comic writing. Includes authors James Thurber, Woody Allen, H.L. Mencken, Joseph Heller, Stephen Leacock, and Fran Lebowitz.

The Laughter Prescription: The Tools of Humor and How to Use Them (BR 5340) by Laurence J. Peter and Bill Dana. The author of the bestselling Peter Principle teams up with the humorist Bill Dana to prescribe laughter as the best medicine. Rather than a bitter pill, they recommend humor as preventive medicine for physiological and psychological health.

Light Metres (BR 5690) by Felicia Lamport. Collection of witty and lightheartedly satirical poems that poke fun at modern men and women and their troubles. In particular, the verses zero in on topics such as politics, dieting, gardening, middle age and other crises, sexual peccadilloes, and tennis.

The Thurber Carnival (BR 5006) by James Thurber. An omnibus containing some stories not previously collected in book form as well as works from the humorist's other books. Includes stories, biographical sketches, and satires.

When It's Laughter You're After (BR 5841) by Stewart Harral. Reference guide for speakers, salesmen, professionals, and others who use humor when dealing with people. Discusses the techniques of getting laughs, timing, and sources of jokes, and lists more than four thousand humorous stories, ad libs, gags, and puns on a variety of topics.

Would You Like a Libretto?

"Welcome to this afternoon's radio broadcast coming to you live from the Metropolitan Opera in New York City!" With these familiar words and a copy of the libretto, you are ready for the 1987 opera season to begin. To borrow the following librettos in braille, send your request a month in advance to the Music Section, National Library Service for the Blind and Physically Handicapped, Library of Congress, Washington, DC 20542, or call 800-424-8567. Please include the BRM number with the title of the opera.

Newsstand

The following announcements may be of interest to readers. The National Library Service reserves the right to publish announcements selectively, as space permits. Items mentioned, however, are not part of the NLS program, and their listing does not imply endorsement.

Stories That Smell Good. Expectations, an annual anthology of stories, books, poems, and illustrations for children, also has a microfragrance page. Besides the scratch-and-sniff feature, the book contains all the usual literary treats. Those treats are eight complete books, excerpts from books, four embossed illustrations, and poems. Expectations is published by Braille Institute and will be available to blind children throughout the United States and twenty-five foreign countries.

Just after Thanksgiving, children in grades three through six who read braille can get a free copy in the mail. The theme of this year's edition is life in America. Both the fiction and nonfiction included treat such subjects as the Statue of Liberty, immigrants, slavery, and customs that have come from other countries.

Schools, libraries, and organizations serving blind children who wish to receive the thirty-eighth volume of Expectations should write to Jody Avery, Braille Institute, 741 North Vermont Avenue, Los Angeles, CA 90029.

Howe Press Catalog. Howe Press of Perkins School for the Blind will supply a free catalog which includes braillers, drawing and mathematical supplies, and braille paper and slates to anyone who requests one. Write Howe Press at Perkins School for the Blind, 175 North Beacon Street, Watertown, MA 02172 or call (617) 924-3490.

Books for Adults

The following books were recently produced for the NLS program. Books with the BR code are produced in press braille. Books with the BRA code are thermoform copies of braille books handcopied for NLS by volunteers. To order books with the BR and BRA codes, complete the order form and return it to your braille-lending library.

Because handcopied books are in very limited supply, your requests may have to be placed on a waiting list. Please be prompt to read and return handcopied books within a few weeks for the sake of other readers who are waiting. The average loan period is four weeks. In unusual circumstances, however, readers may keep their volumes longer.

Note: For the information of the reader, a notice may appear immediately following the book description to indicate occurrences of strong language, explicit descriptions of sex, or violence. The word "some" before any of these terms indicates an occasional or infrequent occurrence, as in "some strong language."

As I Was Saying: A Chesterton Reader BR 6340
by G.K. Chesterton
4 volumes
Selections from an English Catholic apologist who insisted that religion, far from being stuffy, should be a great adventure. Included are excerpts from What I Saw in America, Orthodoxy, and St. Thomas Aquinas; a sampler of epigrams; pieces from the Father Brown detective stories; religious and humorous verse; and thoughts on marriage, women, politics, and morality. 1985.

Otherwise Engaged: The Private Lives of Successful Career Women BR 6341
by Srully Blotnick
4 volumes
A twenty-five-year study of a select group of professional women indicates that women's occupational aspirations are likely to determine the kind of personal life they have. Dr. Blotnick, a renowned psychologist, uses individual case studies to address the questions of what these ambitious, well-educated women want most out of life and why many of them fail to get it. 1985.

America's Favorite Backyard Wildlife BR 6342
by Kit and George Harrison
3 volumes
From personal observation and the research findings of numerous naturalists and biologists, the Harrisons describe the habits and lifestyles of fourteen animal species. Among them are raccoons, deer, mice, and skunks. 1985.

Occasional Prose BR 6344
by Mary McCarthy
